Background

The AGC of NYS proudly presents a program designed to assist members in developing future construction company managers and leaders. The Future Construction Leaders of New York State (FCLNYS) program will help teach the issues involved in managing a construction business in New York State. Attendees will have an opportunity to learn, in a structured environment, what they might otherwise spend years learning from personal experience.

Based on a similar AGC of America program, the FCLNYS will accept about 20 to 30 mid-career managers who have been identified by their companies as future company and AGC leaders. The group will meet several times throughout the year, both independently and in conjunction with other AGC events. Locations of the meetings will be spread across the state. Each meeting will last one or two days, and will combine instruction time with networking activities and social events.

From 1998 to 2012, AGC has graduated over 253 professionals from the Future Construction Leaders program. Both participants and their executive leaders feel the program is a huge success.

"As contractors and construction managers, we all face the problem of training the future leaders of our companies and our industry. When is it a good time to teach your middle managers about business management, public bidding laws, insurance, dispute resolution, risk management, marketing, labor relations? Too often this kind of education comes only as a result of experience, with the resultant mistakes and misunderstandings along the way."

"The Future Construction Leaders of New York State program seeks to remedy this."

- Lew Markle, LPCiminelli, Former AGC NYS Chairman

- Introduction to AGC of NYS, AGC of America and other industry associations
- Design, subcontracting, and other intra-industry issues
- Business management issues
- Employer and labor relations issues
- Bonding and insurance basics
- Project delivery systems
- Construction contract documents
- Dispute resolution options
- Safety and technology in the construction industry
- Marketing & Business Development
- Partnering, TQM, ISO
- Basics of NYS government, state contracting agencies, bidding procedures, legislative issues
- Human Resources Issues specific to our industry

"An incredible learning, networking and sharing opportunity for future leaders of our industry. By far the most informative program I have been associated with in my construction career."

- Paul McCoy

BBL Construction Services

These class sessions will not be purely lectures; they will involve energetic discussions with lots of questions and answers.

Schedule

December 3-4, 2012 - Saratoga Springs, NY

March 2013 - New York City

May 2013 - Rochester, NY

July 2013 - AGC NYS Summer Meeting

We expect there to be four sessions in the course of the year, each lasting a minimum of one day and involving one overnight stay. The fourth and final session includes "graduation," and will be held in conjunction with an AGC Summer Meeting.

We urge all AGC firm principals to take a look at your mid-career managers. They are the future of your company and our industry. The FCLNYS can help them develop the leadership and executive skills they will need, while giving them a chance to network with each other and with the leadership of the construction industry in New York.

Nominate your most promising employees today, using the nomination form attached. Your selection criteria should include some, if not all, of the following:

- Age and employment level (nominees should be approximately 27-to-40-year-old mid-career managers).
- Educational background and work experience (typically Associates/Bachelors degree with minimum of 5 years experience or no undergraduate degree and 12-15 years experience)
